

Declining Early Childhood Screening

Early Childhood developmental screening helps a school district identify children who may benefit from district and community resources available to help in their development

You may decline to answer questions or provide information about family circumstances that might affect development and identification of risk factors that may influence learning.

Declining to answer questions or provide information does not prevent your child from being enrolled in kindergarten if all other screening components are met.

Your child need not submit to the district screening program if your child's health records indicate that the child has received comparable developmental screening performed within the preceding 365 days by a public or private health care organization or individual health care provider. Contact the screening office for more information.

Your child need not submit to the district screening program if you object for conscientiously held beliefs to Early Childhood Screening. Contact the screening office for more information.
